

Dr. Jason Bennett Thatcher

Dr. Jason Bennett Thatcher holds the Tandean Rustandy Esteemed Professorship in the Leeds School of Business at the University of Colorado-Boulder. He also holds a faculty appoint as a Full Professor of Management Science at the Alliance Manchester Business School at the University of Manchester and an Honorary Professorship at the University of Nottingham. He has also held visiting faculty appointments at the Technical University of Munich (TUM), the Hong Kong Polytechnic University, and the Information Technology University-Copenhagen.

Jason studies individual decision-making, strategic alignment, and workforce issues related to the effective application of information technologies in organizations. His more recent projects direct attention to cyber security and social media.

Jason's publishes in journals such as MIS Quarterly, Information Systems Research, Journal of Applied Psychology, Harvard Business Review, and other outlets. Jason's work appears in Financial Times 50 listed journals about once a year. AISResearchRankings.Org ranked him the most productive author on the AIS senior scholars list in 2014, 2020, and 2021. He has been ranked among the top scholars in Social Sciences by Research.com and named among the top 2% most productive researchers in the world in a study published in PLOS Biology. According to GoogleScholar, Jason's work has earned 20,000+ citations.

Jason serves as Senior Editor at MIS Quarterly. He has served as Senior Editor at the Information Systems Research, Decision Sciences, AIS Transactions on HCI, and Associate Editor at Information Systems Research and the Database for Advances of Information Systems. He has also served on the MIS Quarterly Policy Committee, as the Information Systems Community representative.

Jason has been recognized for contributions to the Information Systems discipline by several fellowship and awards. He has been named a visiting fellow in China (Hong Kong Baptist University, Hong Kong Polytechnic University), Denmark (ITU-Copenhagen, Vellux Vellum Fellow), and Germany (TU-Dortmund, Gambinus Fellow; Wiesenbaum Institute for Internet Research, TU-Potsdam). He was named an AIS Fellow in 2019.

Jason enjoys working with students. He has advised 19 PhD students in the United States and 15 more in Denmark, Germany, and China. He teaches courses in Management Information Systems and Strategic Management. He won the College of Business and Behavioral Science 2008 Undergraduate Teaching Excellence Award at Clemson University. Jason was named to the Circle of Compadres by the KPMG Foundation for contributions to mentoring minority Ph.D. students and a TUM Ambassador for his work with PhD students in Germany.

FUNDED RESEARCH

My research has been funded through grants by federal agencies such as the National Science Foundation and the National Parks Service and the support of Fortune 500 companies such as Salesforce.com and IBM. It has also received support from the Department of Management and Creative Inquiry programs at Clemson University and the Fox School of Business at Temple University. My funded work resides at the intersection of social media, cybersecurity, and cyberinfrastructure.

Externally Funded

1. Supporting a Community Building Workshop in Computer Education Research, National Science Foundation, Principal Investigator (PI) (2013). $30,021.
2. Cape Hatteras National Park and Social Media Listening, National Parks Service Co-Principal Investigator (Co-PI) (2013). $11,750
3. Collaborative Research: Planning Grant: IUCRC for Social Technologies and Analytics. National Science Foundation (2013). PI - $15,985
4. CC-NIE Integration: Clemson-NextNet, National Science Foundation. (2012). Senior Personnel responsible for an application layer on curating and transporting social media data - $999,378.
5. EAGER: Prototype Tool for Visualizing Online Polarization, National Science Foundation. (2012). PI, Co-PIs - Appleford, S., Burton, O., and Byrd, V. - $262,653.
6. INSPIRE: Tools, Models, and Innovation Platforms for Research on Social Media, National Science Foundation. (2012). Subcontractor, PI-Robert Mason, University of Washington. $997,118.
7. IBM Center for the Business of Government (2012). Co-PI –Carter, L., NC A&T. $20,000.

TEACHING

I teach courses on innovation, emerging technologies, social media, telecommunications, and strategic management at the Undergraduate and Graduate Levels. My Creative Inquiry course, focused on social media and analytics using Clemson's Social Media Listening Center, has had its work featured on local television, in case studies by Fortune 500 companies, and mentioned in magazines such as Fortune and Forbes. I have won teaching awards at Florida State University and Clemson University. In 2012, my team was recognized for innovative technology education in South Carolina.

Teaching Awards

Innovision Technology Award – Statewide Award for Innovation in Education – www.innovisionawards.org (2012).
Undergraduate Teaching Excellence Award, College of Business and Behavioral Science (CBBS), Clemson University, (2008).
Graduate Student Teaching Excellence Award, College of Business, Florida State University, (2001).

LEADERSHIP AND SERVICE ACTIVITIES

Leadership in the Academic Community

Member, MISQ Policy Committee (2019-present).
President, Association for Information Systems (2015-2018).
