

---

---

David H. Paradis, PhD

---

---

Education	Ph.D., Medieval History, Emory University, May 1998 Dissertation Topic: The English Rising of 1381 Dissertation Adviser: Stephen D. White M.A., Early Modern History, Emory University, May 1994 B.A., History, University of Virginia, May 1981
Teaching Experience	SENIOR INSTRUCTOR, History Dept., University of Colorado, Boulder, CO 2018 – Present INSTRUCTOR, History Dept., University of Colorado, Boulder, CO 2011 – 2018 SCHOLAR-IN-RESIDENCE, History Dept., University of Colorado, Boulder, CO 2009 - 2011 INSTRUCTOR, History Department, University of Colorado, Boulder, CO 2006 – 2009 LECTURER, History Department, University of Colorado, Boulder, CO 2002 – 2006 TEACHING FELLOW, History Department, Emory University, Atlanta, GA, 1995-1996 Designed new course and syllabus, conducted weekly seminar, evaluated students in addition to teaching standard course from the curriculum. TEACHING ASSOCIATE History Department, Emory University, Atlanta, GA, Spring 1994 HIST 101: Western Civilization: lectured, led discussions, graded exams
Works Published And In Progress	David Paradis &amp; Abby Lagemann, "Capturing the Imagination of a Distracted Audience," Quidditas 33(2012), 247-256. David Paradis, Sheena Barnes, Abby Lagemann, The Origins of European Civilization, OER Textbook, published through Creative Commons
Public Lectures &amp; Papers Given	"Sir John Oldcastle and Shakespeare's Falstaff" Spring Into Shakespeare, Boulder, CO, April 2014 "Narrative Strategy and Ambiguity in the Chronicle Accounts of the English Rising of 1381," 34th International Congress on Medieval Studies, Kalamazoo, MI, May 1999 "Authority and Justice during the English Rising of 1381," Institute for Historical Research, London, February 1997
Awards, Grants &amp; Fellowships	University of Colorado ASSETT Innovation Incubator Student Success Team, 2019 - Present University of Colorado ASSETT Teaching Fellow, January 2017-2018 Marinus Smith Faculty Teaching Award, University of Colorado, Boulder, 2012 Russell Major Dissertation Fellowship, Emory University, 1995 - 1996 Dean's Teaching Fellowship, Emory University, 1995 - 1996
Service	History Department Representative, Boulder Faculty Assembly, 2018 to Present Member of the BFA Budget and Planning Committee, 2018 to Present Member of the Faculty Council Budget Committee, 2019 to Present History Department Representative, Arts &amp; Sciences Council 2017-2018 Member of the Arts and Sciences Council Budget Committee, 2017 to Present.