PRESS REVIEWS

“The recital amounted to an exciting catalog of Requiro’s musical gifts. Chief among these is the beauty of his string tone, a light-footed but resonant sound that seems to leap from the instrument. The broad, fervent melodies of the first movement emerged dark but swift, without any fat on them, and the finale was brisk and brilliant. To witness Requiro, with his baby face and fearless technique, tugging merrily at Papa Brahms’ beard was a rare treat.”

- San Francisco Chronicle (1/13/2009)

“Requiro’s burnished sound and spellbinding phrasing of one of the most gorgeous melodies the composer [Brahms] ever wrote inevitably took center stage...Requiro triumphed every time.”

- Seattle Times (8/28/2011)

“Most musical performers play upon an instrument. But, there are some rare ones who emerge into a symbiotic relationship with their instruments that make us think of them as one. And, that is Requiro. Look for him to be a musical leader of the future.”

- Oakland Tribune (5/27/2007)

“Requiro was a vigilant performer...his caramel tone and command of vibrato brought the audience to its feet mid-concert. Requiro concocted a nearly irresistible incitement to jump up and dance.”

- Naples Daily News (2/5/2010)
